WorldCare To Feature Its B2B e-Consultation Programs; Cleveland Clinic, Duke University Health System & Partners HealthCare to Demonstrate State-of-the-Art Medical Care in “Best Clinical Practice” Theatre, Cleveland Clinic & Partners To Provide Senior Executives and Expert Specialists To Speak at “Leadership” and “Medical” Conferences.

Cambridge, MA January 19, 2005 -- WorldCare Inc., a pioneer and leader in the development and distribution of global health care services and solutions, today announced that with it will jointly exhibit with its premiere provider network, The WorldCare ConsortiumSM at Arab Health 2005, February 12-15 in the Dubai World Trade Center.

WorldCare, The Cleveland Clinic, Duke University Health System and Partners HealthCare System, which includes Massachusetts General Hospital and Brigham and Women’s Hospital, will occupy 84 square meters of prime exhibition space. The “WorldCare Consortium Pavilion” will feature independent informational kiosks and separate conference rooms for each Consortium member. The Pavilion will also feature a “Best Clinical Practice Theatre,” where each institution will screen its state-of-the-art clinical services and research programs with a specific focus on the treatment of serious and complex disease.

“Our objective in participating in Arab Health is to educate international consumers and payors as to the powerful clinical differentiators of the member institutions of The WorldCare Consortium,” stated Nasser Menhall, CEO, WorldCare Inc. “Representing over 7,000 physicians, acclaimed specialists and sub-specialists and over 1.6 billion dollars in annual biomedical research funding, the WorldCare Consortium is unparalleled in the global healthcare marketplace for the depth of its medical expertise. Hence, any international entity responsible for or interested in securing expert second opinion e-consultation coverage should consider WorldCare’s services. WorldCare’s e-health enabled products and services, rendered by The WorldCare Consortium, can play a crucial role in improving the quality of healthcare decision-making and outcomes,” concluded Menhall.

“Arab Health 2005 provides a dynamic forum for the Cleveland Clinic to demonstrate its innovative clinical services and long-standing commitment to the region,” stated Conrad Simpfendorfer, M.D., Chairman of The Cleveland Clinic International Center. “Our outstanding centers of excellence, including The Taussig Cancer Center, The Glickman Urological Institute and The Cleveland Clinic Heart Center, ranked as the #1 Heart Center in America for ten consecutive years, represent a global resource for international patients seeking state-of-the-art, minimally invasive care. Our modern and efficient facilities, distinctive, integrated campus and new, four-star Intercontinental Hotel and Conference Center constitute the cross road where world-class care and healing hospitality meet. We are pleased to announce that our newly-appointed President and CEO, Delos M. Cosgrove, M.D. has been invited to speak at Arab Health’s “Leaders in Health Care” Conference. Three other renowned physician leaders, James Zins, M.D., Chairman, Department of Plastic Surgery, Isador Lieberman, M.D., Director of the Spine Institute and Peter Weber, M.D., staff member of the Head and Neck Institute will also speak and serve as chairman for numerous sessions. This level of participation represents a record educational contribution to Arab Health by CCF,” concluded Simpfendorfer.
