WorldCare and SelfCareNet Partner to Provide Second Opinion Users with Easy to Use and Understand Self-Care Symptom-based Healthcare Information

Cambridge, MA and Denver, CO – March 19, 2007 – WorldCare, a pioneer and leader in the field of global health care services, including specialized multi-disciplinary second opinion e-consultation, serious illness treatment plans and managed referral services and SelfCareNet, Inc., the leading provider of self-care information, announced an agreement to integrate SelfCareNet information with WorldCare's Second Opinion product to empower their subscribers to make informed decisions about their health.

WorldCare will make SelfCareNet information available to their Second Opinion users as an enhanced benefit of WorldCare's Second Opinion service, and in some cases as a stand alone service available to members through WorldCare's Affiliates worldwide. SelfCareNet symptom/injury-based information will answer real life scenarios such as:

You have had constant pain in your right lower abdomen for 4 hours. When should you call your doctor when you have abdominal pain?

My 3 year old son just woke up tonight out of a dead sleep saying that his ear hurts. He seems to be really uncomfortable and won't go back to sleep. I'm concerned it's an ear infection. Should I call his doctor now or take him to the Emergency Room? What can I do to help his pain?

My 7 year old just broke out with this red bumpy blotchy rash all over her body. She's itching like crazy. How would I know if this is an allergic reaction to something? What should I watch for? Do I need have her seen? What should I do?

"Our Second Opinion members will have access to SelfCareNet information 24X7 to answer their health related questions concerning their or their children's health. WorldCare is keen to support our members' everyday healthcare needs by bringing them access to a broader spectrum of care, and providing them with health information on a regular basis, including in situations where a second opinion may not be needed. We are happy to be able to bring this valuable resource to our members while further differentiating WorldCare's unique service," said Dr. Joel Kahn, CIO.

"The SelfCareNet information is well suited for the WorldCare members to access easy to understand, easy to use information that will help them answer their health related questions" said Richard Thompson, CEO, and SelfCareNet. "WorldCare is known in the industry for their innovation and excellence, and we are happy to be part of their solution."
